Casa Coyaba
Surf House, Playa Encuentro

Coyaba means paradise.

The Taino people were indigenous inhabitants of the Caribbean islands, known for their rich culture and history. In the Taino language, “Coyaba” refers to a peaceful and idyllic place, often associated with natural beauty and harmony.

The north coast of the Dominican Republic.

The north coast is undergoing rapid expansion and is poised for substantial economic growth in the upcoming years. With contemporary new developments, a steady influx of discerning homeowners, and a burgeoning array of tourism attractions, it's clear that the north coast is on track to become the most coveted residential destination in the Dominican Republic.

Playa Encuentro, surf capital of the Dominican Republic.

Playa Encuentro stands as the island's most reliable and renowned surfing location with clear turquoise water and a tropical almond forest along a sandy beach. Nestled within the Surf & Wind City Cabarete, the Dominican Republic's hub for water sports, it caters to a range of aquatic activities including surfing, kitesurfing, wingfoiling, and classic windsurfing.

In close proximity, a diverse selection of restaurants, cafés, yoga studios, gyms, and a host of engaging activities for all age groups await, ensuring a vibrant and fulfilling lifestyle.

A coherent blend of cool and warm elements.

Our design incorporates a fusion of conventional construction materials like concrete and indigenous wood, resulting in clean lines and a timeless cubic aesthetic. Infused with local charm, the use of Caliche and Coralina stone, along with an array of tropical vegetation including Royal and Coconut Palm trees, Monstera, Bird of paradise and an assortment of banana varieties, adds a distinctive touch.

Amidst the abundant greenery and beneath the sheltering roof, the environment offers a balanced and comfortable climate, ensuring pleasant days and nights.

Harmony in peace and protection.

Casa Coyaba is thoughtfully designed to meet local specifications, prioritizing safety and resilience in the face of potential natural hazards like hurricanes or earthquakes. A solid foundation of concrete, walls constructed from durable concrete blocks, and reinforced with ample steel rebar guarantee a secure sanctuary, no matter the circumstances.

As modern developments continue to emerge in Playa Encuentro, safety has emerged as a paramount concern for both local tourism and developers alike. While Casa Coyaba embraces an open design within, it seamlessly integrates perimeter property walls and enhances security through an essential lighting system.
